WEATHER

NEVADA CITY: Fred W. Bush, weather observer, reports that the storm of Tuesday and Wednesday brought 2:20 inches of rain. Total precipitation to date for the season is 8.87 inches.

The State Division of Highways reported that on the Yuba Pass, five inches of snow fell. Fourteen inches were reported on the Summit, Highway 40, but rains all day melted most snow below the 6,000 foot level. Chains are necessary for autos crossing the summit.

The recent rains washed away most of the brilliant fall leaves from the sugar maples. Temperature Thursday stayed near 50 degrees, with the sky overcast and misty.

A full moon shown through a slight mist last night, and the atmosphere was damp and cool.

SNOW BLOCKS MEETING OF TRI-CITY GROUP

NEVADA CITY: The Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce directors, scheduled to meet at Donner Village Tuesday night with representatives of Nevada City and Truckee chambers, due to the snow storm in the high altitudes, were unable to make it.

The meeting was called for the purpose of formulating plans for a Nevada County Chamber of Commerce. Nevada City and Truckee representatives tentatively set November 6th in Grass Valley for the date of postponed meeting.

ATTEND STUDENT MEET

GRASS VALLEY: President Don Davis of the Placer College Associated Students and Donna Hyatt, commissioner of women's athletics at the Auburn campus, are attending the regional meeting of the National Students Association at Stanford.

LIONS SPONSOR FRIENDSHIP TRAIN COLLECTIONS HERE

NEVADA CITY: The Lions Club is sponsoring collections for the Friendship Food Train in this area. The train, which will leave Bakersfield for Sacramento November 5th, is a material gesture to aid starving Europe.

President William French, at Wednesday night's regular meeting, appointed Charles Hilpert, chairman; Stanley Wright and Milton Anderson, organizing members of the committee to arrange food collections here.

The Rotary Club, meeting for lunch Thursday, appointed Rudolph Berggren and Marvin Shock to meet with the Lions committee Thursday night to work out methods of collecting food donations.

Stanley Wright reported that the Grass Valley Lions Club were expected to act on the matter at their meeting Thursday night. He also stated that, in all likelihood, the method of collection would be through the placing of donation barrels in local grocery stores, possibly as early as Saturday. Donors could then find it convenient to purchase food in the desired categories, and drop it in the barrels, where it would be collected, at the appropriate time by the committee.

The Friendship Train is expected to be in Sacramento by November 7th, Friday. The commodities that are desired are bulk wheat, white flour, dried beans, dried peas, evaporated milk, sugar, macaroni, and spaghetti.

LIONS MEETING

Guest speaker at the Lions meeting Wednesday was Val D. Baima, enthusiastic proponent of Banner Mountain National Gold Park. Baima, in painting a glowing and lengthy word picture of the project, spoke of such features as a duplicate of the University of California campanile atop the mountain, millions of dollars to be spent by the federal government, with a staff of fifty to a hundred maintaining the landscaped beauty of the park.

Baima described the local historical museum as "rating zero" and stated that "no one would come from even as far as Sacramento" to see it. He referred to the "little" museum as a "firetrap," and remarked that no one would wish to house costly specimens of gold there.

He pictured support of his movement as stronger in Placer county than in Nevada county, and reported that the president of the Placerville Chamber of Commerce had informed him that he had exactly the same idea.

Central feature of the proposed park would be the campanile-like tower, hewn out of natural field stone. Within it would be many marvelous rooms, the crowning glory of which would be the gold room, containing the greatest collection of raw gold in the world.

Another feature, as projected, would be a mammoth statue in bronze of a gold miner towering over acres and acres of beautifully landscaped lawn and garden.

Baima is a landscape gardener.

He concluded with a moving tribute to the Law of Giving, which he stated was the first law of the universe.

WINTER COMETH

As winter approaches, foresighted citizens variously prepare to enjoy its benefits and endure its hazards. For insurance against the dangers of wet, slippery highways and cold temperatures, see the Nugget's automobile section on page seven.

This is National Radio Week, and the best way in the world to enjoy long winter evenings, is to tune your radio to the world's great productions of drama and music. On this year's marvelous instruments, they are brought into your living room in the reality of beautiful tone. Read the National Radio Week section on pages four and five.

Winter brings other needs, too; changes of style, and a call for furs and warm blankets. These, too, you will find offered on the Nugget's pages. Patronize the Nevada County shops and Nugget advertisers. You'll find the best values at the best advertisers!

BAIMAS COMPLAIN ABOUT LACK OF SUPPORT FOR PARK

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE ORGANIZED GROUPS

The Nugget,
Nevada City, Calif.

For a long time we have waited patiently to be invited by the organized service groups of our two cities to come down and address them in behalf of the National Gold Park. Up to date the only organization which has invited us to speak before them is the Women's Professional Business Club. The two very important Chamber of Commerces have been very silent on the park project. Why all this lack of interest? Why all lack of cooperation? Strange all this—when so many of the members of every group have been asking for the National Gold Park, through the petition we have in both towns and other places. Alone, time will clarify the motives of reason for this lack of action.

We are so pressed for time—1949, the California Gold Rush Centennial is just around the corner. And for this reason we see it best not to join any group; nor will we seek to establish a "National Gold Park" club. We know that the park and the people who have signed the petitions best interest will be served if we carry our battle as direct as possible to our National Congress. Groups in this case will do a wonderful bit of cooperation if they did do their part, this would be to indorse the park project. As we have stated before we wish their indorsement. This will help us a lot. But should they see fit to withhold it, we still will work fearlessly and unselfishly for the park and get it in the end.

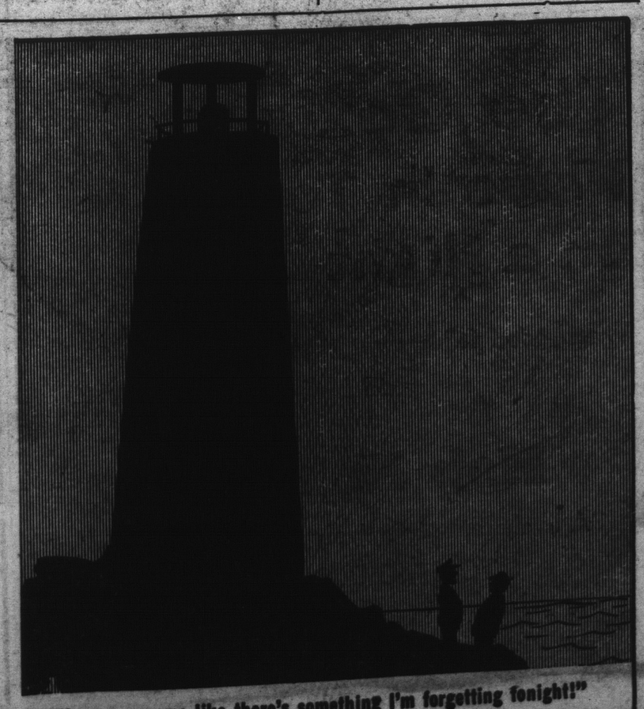
The Banner Mt. Nat. Gold Park will come into reality upon two universal corner stones: The very hope of the future life of all mankind rests upon these two stones. They are: WORK AND FAITH!

Our role will ever be that of the fearless and tireless workers. We promise the people of all northern California to stay with our high task until the job is finished. There is no other course open to us. We have great faith in the three thousand or more people who have up to date asked that the park be created. And will have this same faith in the ten thousand persons who will be in the petition books when our drive for names is over.

We hope to keep every issue which time will bring forth impersonal. The National Gold Park is far above personalities. If some there are who seek to be personal, then let them air their thoughts in public, so that we may be able to defend—not so much ourselves—but the great and beautiful IDEAL which is the very heart and soul of this great proposed park. We have the mighty sword of TRUTH in our hands, and only this will ever be our weapon to any adversary of the park.

It is our desire to address from now on until the petitions are filled, as many groups as we can.

Val D. Baima



"Hmmm—seems like there's something I'm forgetting tonight!"

Multiple Listings

GRASS VALLEY: An association of real estate dealers, to be called the Multiple Listing Brokers, was announced Wednesday in a radio broadcast and today in advertisements in local newspapers.

The ten brokers who formed the new group are: William H. Stinson, David Maltman, Biggs Realty Co., Corbin & Airington, Earl Adams, William Haney, Herbert Nile, W. W. Esterly Organization, Byron Brock and Presley Realty Co.

Listing property for sale with the above offices means that all will co-operate in effecting the deal. Buyers will find a wide selection available at each broker's, since his list will include those of the other nine members.

Multiple listing is already in use in many California cities, and has been under discussion in this area for nearly two years.

Learns Bus Departure; Has Heart Attack

GRASS VALLEY: Frank Hipp suffered a heart attack Wednesday as he stepped into a cafe to learn the time the bus left for Nevada City. He fell off his stool. Officer Roger Penrose was called and gave him artificial respiration. Dr. Harold L. Karo treated the man and ordered him into a hospital. He was taken to the county hospital in Nevada City, which reported yesterday he was resting easily.

TENNIS HEADS YOUTH COMM.

GRASS VALLEY: Gilbert Tennis, superintendent of Grass Valley schools, has been appointed chairman of the Grass Valley Youth Commission, by the city council.

Other members named in turn by Tennis are Miss Bernice Glasson, Tavio Battista, Carlton Thomas and Joseph Hocking.

Tennis said that there is a chance to obtain state financial aid for youth recreational programs. He said he did not believe the commission should attempt to put on a program, but should act as a coordinating body for all programs put on by various groups. He suggested that a public meeting be called to permit all those interested to participate in a discussion of what should be done.

Rodger Snipe, a member of the high school faculty, who conducted the summer youth recreational program reported play ground attendance of youngsters at 1495 for the summer, and the weekly dance attendance of 600 or 2490 for the season.

HISTORIANS PLAN OLD FASHIONED DANCE MONDAY

GRASS VALLEY: Mrs. Doris Foley, president of the Nevada County Historical Society, states that the Old Fashioned Dance to be given in the James S. Hennessy School Monday night, will be a delightful event.

Mrs. Grace Raymond, who has made a study of old time dance music and has collected several song books and books of music issued during the 1860s, will have charge of the dancing events.

The Nuggetteers, an accomplished group, will give an exhibition of dances from nine different countries. Mrs. Raymond states that every fifth dance on the program will be a square dance. There will be no admission and the public is cordially invited to attend.

FARM MARKET OPEN SATURDAY - SUNDAY

GRASS VALLEY: The Farm Market on the Lake Olympia Road will be open Saturday and Sunday this week. It was announced yesterday that turkeys, chickens, ducks, rabbits, apples and nuts will be offered. All these commodities are locally raised.

Produce will be offered, such as vegetables and oranges but these will come from outside the county. It is announced that through the winter the market will be open Saturdays and Sundays so long as the consumers demand keeps up its present pace.

Funeral Today For William A. Richardson

GRASS VALLEY: Funeral services will be held in Hooper and Weaver Mortuary today at 10 a. m. for William A. Richardson, who died at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning in his home in the Greenhorn Creek area. Rev. William Adam, pastor of the Chicago Park Lutheran Church, will conduct the service. Officers of the Grass Valley Lodge of Elks will read the service of the Elks.

Richardson was a native of Normal, Illinois, aged 64 years. Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Richardson; a son, Walter Richardson; two brothers, Walter Richardson, en route to South America; and Lester Richardson of Hayward, Alameda county.

The deceased had made his home in the Grass Valley vicinity for 14 years. He engaged in ranching, carpentry and contracting. He was an ardent angler and an enthusiastic sportsman.

FISH SHOOTER NABBED

GRASS VALLEY: Edward Ernest Fisher, Grass Valley, was arrested by Game Warden Earl Hiscox of Nevada county and Warden Ed Dennett of Yuba county, Tuesday for shooting salmon with a shotgun at Daguerre Point on the Yuba River.

GALA PARTY REPLACES OLD FASHIONED TRICK OR TREAT

NEVADA CITY: Ghosts, Black Cats and Witches are stalking about waiting for the Annual Halloween Carnival at the Nevada City Elementary School on Friday night, October 31, 1947, at 7:30 P. M.

Excitement is growing as the children prepare for the costume parade which will open the carnival. Following the parade they will enjoy themselves in the various concessions.

A full evening of entertainment is assured young and old alike as they wander through the maze of white elephants, dart games, slide pictures, motion pictures, and the room of horrors.

The Merchants of both Nevada City and Grass Valley have been more than generous with donations of candy, toys, paper bags, ice cream and white elephants.

There will be eats a plenty, including candied apples, cokes, peanuts, hot dogs, cider and doughnuts, coffee and doughnuts, home-made candy, jawbreakers donated by Emmett Gallagher and ice cream.

Members of the executive board, room mothers and teachers are very busy preparing for their various concessions.

Everywhere children stop talking and look mysterious, but if you are in the know it all comes down to the fact that they are planning ghostly costumes.

Preparations are well under way for a gala evening for kiddies and grownups and they will find many things to keep them interested. For instance, Mr. Elza Kilroy is showing colored slide pictures this year of Fourth of July floats, local scenery and many beautiful pictures of floats entered in the Pasadena Rose Bowl parade.

A splendid addition to this year's White Elephant Sale is potted plants taken care of and planted by Mrs. John Filler. Her Cub Scouts painted all the flower pots and are quite proud, as they should be, of their donation. The Cub Scouts are one of the projects the Parent Teacher Association sponsors. Mrs. Fred Shaw and Mrs. Marvin Schance, in charge of the elephants, say the response is marvelous but more and more items can be used.

Mothers and Dads will be helping in all the concessions and everyone is invited to come and help them get rid of their supply of pop corn, ice cream, candy, cokes, hot dogs and coffee.

SPOOKY DOIN'S AT TRAIL RIDER JAMBOREE

Genevieve Short will present a half hour of entertainment by the Starlet Dance Studio featuring some of the finest juvenile talent of the city from 9:00 to 9:30.

At 9:30 the Grand March will signal the time for all the ghosts and goblins and Halloween horrors to parade before the judges who will select the prettiest costume, town witch, the punkin-head and the most gruesome costume.

At 10:00 the black cats will give way to the hep-cats as the spotlight turns on the jitterbug corner when Mel Davis gives out with a solid down beat as jivehounds compete for first prize as the grooviest rug-cutters. A section of the dance floor will be roped off for the jitterbugs.

The Blue Preludes will provide music for dancing until 1:00 a. m.

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

DEC. 21, 1851.—(Continued from previous issue)—Platt says that Don Warner was the most hospitable man on earth. The party stayed at the ranch a week, the men and the mules were given all that they could eat and drink, and at the end Warner refused to accept a cent for it. From the ranch they went to Los Angeles, where the party broke up and scattered. The trip consumed six months and eleven days from New York City to Los Angeles.

Here the sad part of Platt's story came in. He was anxious to hear from home and knew that there should be letters for him at San Francisco. He had written from Galveston and San Antonio, but, of course, nothing had reached him on the trip and he hurried on as fast as possible, eager to get the home news before striking for fortune at the mines. The letters were there, all from his mother-in-law. His wife had sickened and died in six weeks after his departure. Platt says that for a week he was out of his mind and that half a dozen times he went down to the wharf, fully determined to jump off and end his misery. Then the memory of his little girl came to him and held him back. After the first acute agony was over he realized that he still had something to live for, and resolving to devote himself to the baby he sold his mules, for which he got four hundred dollars, sent three hundred dollars to the grandmother and started for the mountains. He fell in with Dixon, his partner, on the boat bound for Nevada, and finally settled down on Rock Creek. They had both done well and were in a fair way to be independent. The child was healthy, well taken care of, and he was in hopes in a year or so to bring her and her grandmother to California. He had neither inclination nor desire to see the states again.

DECEMBER 28, 1851.—Selby Flat has had a sensation which has furnished the boys no end of fun. There was no turkey dinner Christmas, that is, at the hotel, although the landlord swears that his birds furnished a private feed to somebody and he is vowing vengeance on those he suspects of depriving his boarders of a grand blowout. The majority were skeptical as to there being any turkeys procurable and they backed their opinions with their money, while a few who were in the secret took all of the bets offered, knowing that the landlord had made arrangements a month previous with a peddler from the valley, who assured him that he was going to bring a load from a flock that had been raised on a ranch below Marysville and had agreed to deliver to him a dozen fat birds. Sure enough, a week before Christmas, he arrived with six coops full—a hundred altogether; had no difficulty in selling them at from eight to ten dollars each, and the landlord got his dozen, as agreed. Those who bet on a turkey dinner wanted to be paid their stakes then and there, but the wagers were on a Christmas feast and the stakeholders decided to wait until that day before giving up the money. It was a sure thing, so no objection was made. The birds were cooped up and stuffed with all they could eat, the landlord advertised the feed at two dollars and a half a head, and was rash enough to promise mince pie for dessert. Two days before Christmas the dreadful word went around that the turkeys had disappeared, and the Flat was all torn up over the news. The landlord was frantic, but had no clue as to the thieves, although he, as well as everybody else around the Flat, suspected the Saleratus Ranch boys, they being usually at the bottom of any deviltry going on. He even went so far as to demand that Pard, who is the deputy sheriff, should search their cabin, but Anderson declined unless a search warrant was sworn out, which the landlord, who had nothing to go on beyond his suspicions, could not very well do. The women pronounced it a shame and the men said it would be unhealthy for the occupants of any cabin near which turkey feathers or bones might be found.

It was just a plain, ordinary dinner at the hotel, except for the mince pie, and was followed by a Christmas dance. After the dinner the guests—about fifty of them—decided that they would pay a visit to the Saleratus Ranch and see what sort of holiday grub the boys were having. If they expected to find turkey they were badly disappointed, for there was nothing in sight but the regular old pork and beans and spoiled beef. The ranch boys said that they had fully expected to eat a turkey dinner at the hotel, which, of course, was not to be had, so as they had their mouths made up for a taste of the bird, they were all going over to Nevada for supper, as turkey was plenty in that town, and, sure enough, about three o'clock they all started for that place. After that nobody suspicioned them, and it was the general belief that some thieving Indian from the campoody, over the ridge, had robbed the turkey roost. I was saddling up my horse to go into town when Charlie Barker came over to the creek and asked me and Pard to meet a lot of the boys down where Brush and Rock Creeks come together, about two miles below Selby Flat. He was grinning and chuckling over some great joke and wouldn't let on what it was, but teased us to go with him to the rendezvous. Pard suspected what was up and said that as an officer of the law he guessed he had better stay away, but just for curiosity I went along. The cabin we were bound for was Jack Ristine and Carter's place. The rest of the boys went up the road to Sugar Loaf, as if on the way to Nevada, but instead branched off down the ridge and hill, and when just before dark we reached the shanty, there were about twenty of them gathered there and, shameful to tell, the turkeys were there, too. It seems that all of those who had bet on there being no turkey dinner were in a plot. They had stolen the birds, taken them down to the creek, killed and picked them, throwing the feathers into the running water, and then half a dozen, who were not suspected, had slipped away Christmas day and helped Ristine and Carter prepare the feast. It was a bully good supper and I must say I enjoyed it. The boys were full of fun, and as whiskey was more than plenty, they were soon full of that too. They sang and told stories until about eleven o'clock, then gathered up the bones and remnants of the supper, dug a hole in the bank of the creek and buried the remains three feet deep. They all stood around the hole, or grave, as they called it, bareheaded, while Arthur Brooks delivered a funeral oration over the "dear departed." As they were getting uproarious I slipped away and came back home. I told Pard about it and he laughed and said that the boys did not mean any harm but it was just a little rough on the landlord.

Football Focus

By JOHN McALLISTER LEWIS

What a game—U.S.C. 39, California 14. A wonderful day, a huge crowd of eighty thousand fasn and the type of ball game that keeps the stadium full until the final gun plus ten minutes to regain one's breath.

Cal started out like a supersonic rocket and ended up like an embarrassed fizzled out firecracker. No, it wasn't that bad but the Berkeley bubble has been deflated by a piercingly potent S. C. squad.

Waldorfs students opened with an impressive touchdown gallop on the first offensive play of the game, made the conversion and then kicked off to the Los Angeles crew only to find that within a few minutes the contest was all tied up 7-7. The Southern California grapplers are for the most part veterans of many seasons of football and showed it.

We again congratulate ourselves for picking the outcome of the forementioned struggle successfully and won't comment on the ones missed.

Michigan and U.S.C. could very well be facing each other on New Years Day in Pasadena despite the fact that the Wolverines barely came out on top of the rugged Minnesota football machine when they met Saturday. Score Michigan 13, Minnesota 6.

The Illini of last year's Rose Bowl fame were abruptly subdued by an up and coming squad of Purdue Boilermakers. Remembering back a couple of Saturdays, Purdue almost upset the invulnerable South Benders so they are proven as threats to any victory campaign. As it stands now Michigan is tne only undefeated team in the Big Nine and are probably already planning their trip west.

Columbia came from behind to drop the cadets who learned the hard way how it feels to be scored on. Score: Columbia 21, Army 20 in an awful hard to take upset.

Blonde Bobby Layne of Texas led his unbeaten team mates to another victory. This time it was Rice and believe me the going was tough. Rice Institute displayed its powerful football juggernaught to coast fans when they tied U.S.C. earlier in the season.

In another midwestern skirmish the Northwestern Wildcats clawed their Hoosier opponents sufficiently to garner a one-point advantage, 7-6.

Last year Wesley Fesler was head coach for the Panthers of Pittsburg but this year he was made head coach of his alma mater Ohio State and imagine his embarrassment Saturday when the Ohio boys were taken to the tune of two touchdowns and no conversions to zero.

Penn, one of the mighty mighties of the east took Navy in their stride as the Annapolis boys literally lost their—middies.

Southern Methodist University upset U.C.L.A. and that leaves only Southern Cal in the coast's unbeaten column. The state of Texas certainly puts out some effective gridiron combines and they are always colorful to watch.

Forecasts for the coming weekend:

Texas Christian over Baylor.
Georgia Tech over Duke.
Michigan over Illinois.
West Virginia over Maryland.
Minnesota over Pittsburg.
Indiana over Ohio State.
Penn over Princeton.
Purdue over Iowa.
Southern Methodist over Texas.
Stanford over Oregon State.
California over U.C.L.A.

Veterans' News

One in every five World War II veterans holding National Service life insurance policies has converted to one or more of the half-dozen available permanent plans, Veterans Administration said.

Of the 5,746,000 policies in force in August, more than 1,037,000 were permanent policies and the remaining 4,708,000 were five-year level term policies.

Nearly two-thirds of the veterans who had converted their policies, or 634,900, selected 20-payment life. Thirty-payment life was second in popularity with 194,000 policies. Following, in order, were ordinary life, 156,400 policies; 20-year endowment, 30,950; endowment at age sixty, 15,000; and endowment at age 65, 6,000.

Total value of all the G-I policies in force amounted to more than $34.4 billion. Permanent forms accounted for over $14.4 billion of this total.

NSLI term policies issued before January 1, 1946, may be continued for eight years from the effective date at the original rates, while such insurance issued after that date may be continued for five years on a term basis.

Term policies do not accrue cash, loan, paid-up or extended insurance value. They may be converted at any time before the expiration of the term period to any of the six permanent plans available.

QUESTION: I am a World War II veteran and would like to know the minimum and maximum amounts of National Service Life Insurance I can take out?

ANSWER: The minimum for NSLI is $1,000 and you can get more in multiples of $500 up to $10,000.

QUESTION: Do National Service Life Insurance policies participate in savings?

ANSWER: Yes, if favorable mortality experience and interest earnings warrant a premium adjustment, dividends from gains and savings will be authorized by the Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

QUESTION: Why do I have to pay two monthly premiums instead of one when I reinstate my lapsed National Servcie Life Insurance policy?

ANSWER: One premium is for the 31-day grace period following the date of lapse, during which the insurance was continued in force without payment of premium; the other is for the current month of the reinstatement.

NUGGET RECIPES

BAKED APPLES BOAST A BANANA BONNET!

Folksy and familiar as a polished tea kettle are baked apples as a dessert. Everyone likes them. Everyone has them as a meal-end standby.

Make new friends for "old friend" baked apples by serving them with a brand new bonnet of banana slices. The flavors of the two fruits are superb together, mellow banana blending with amiable apple for a new dessert treat. Since the bananas in this recipe are cooked, the fruit should have all-yellow peel to indicate it is at proper stage of ripeness for cooking purposes.

Baked Banana Apple Rings

1 cup sugra
½ cup water
2 apples, unpeeled
2 or 3 firm bananas*
2 tbsps. melted butter
1-8 teasp. salt
Dash cinnamon

*Use all-yellow bananas.

Mix together sugar and water. Bring to boiling temperature and cook until sugar is dissolved. Core apples and cut each crosswise into halves. Place apple halves into shallow baking dish. Pour syrup over apples. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400° F.) 20 to 30 minutes, or until apples are almost tender but still firm, basting apples occasionally with the syrup. Remove from oven. Peel bananas. Cut into thin slices. Cover apple rings with overlapping slices of bananas. Brush with butter and sprinkle with salt and cinnamon. Return to oven and bake about 10 minutes longer, or until bananas are tender . . . easily pierced with a fork. Serve hot as a meat accompaniment, or as a dessert with sweetened whipped cream or hard sauce. YIELD: 4 servings.

Note: About 1 cup of white or dark corn syrup may be used in place of sugar and water.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Sam's a Matrimony Expert

Sam Abernathy never intended to be a matrimony expert, but he hit the nail on the head the other day when he said:

"What marriage really needs is more open minds and a lot fewer open mouths."

Sam may not think much of his missus' choice of hats or her habit of serving watercress and cream cheese salad. But he keeps his mouth shut (I mean, he just uses it to eat the salad). And the missus never criticizes Sam's affection for that worn-out chair before the fire, and his mellow glass of beer and pipe at the end of a long day.

From where I sit, that prescription would apply to most human relationships. Criticism rarely rouses anything but resentment. But an open mind—whether it's applied to a woman's choice of hats, or a husband's preference for a pipe and a moderate glass of beer or two—leads to the conclusion that there's right on both sides.

Winter Driving Hazards Call For Auto Check-Up

With winter driving months, the most hazardous of the year, close at hand, an immediate check-up of the safety features of your automobile is recommended by the California State Automobile Association. Correction of any deficiencies in the safety equipment will reduce the dangers arising from fewer daylight hours, reduced visibility in rainy weather and the risk of skidding on wet pavement.

To assure maximum safety under winter driving conditions the motorists' organization recommends:

1. Have your brakes checked and adjusted, and relined if necessary. Poor brakes are always a hazard, but on wet pavements wheel traction is reduced and inefficient brakes become especially hazardous.

2. The tire treads should be checked and smooth tires should be recapped or replaced with tires that have good non-skid tread. Proper traction between tires and pavement is virtually impossible if the treads are smooth. Over-inflated tires also increase the tendency to skid.

3. Check headlights and taillights. Headlights should be adjusted for elevation to make sure they comply with the law, and lenses and reflectors should be cleaned to obtain maximum efficiency.

4. Check the windshield wiper blades to make sure they have not dried uot during the summer, and replace if necessary. At least, the blades should be removed and cleaned.

5. Make sure the rear view mirror and rear window are clear and that they permit an unobstructed view to the rear.

6. Check the ignition system, and have the battery tested to make sure its action is vigorous enough to meet the added burden imposed by winter driving conditions.

PREVENT SKIDDING

To prevent skdiding on wet or slippery pavement, start slowly, speed up gradually, slow down gradually and turn slowly, the California State Automobile Association advises.

SMOOTH TIRES

Smooth tires increase the risk of skidding on wet or slippery pavement, the California State Automobile Association cautions. Motorists are advised to have smooth tires replaced or retreaded for winter driving.

WHITE AT NIGHT

Shortening of daylight hours, as winter approaches, calls for extra care on the part of pedestrians, the California State Automobile Associaiton warns. Also when walking at night wear or show something white.

Approximately 476,098 persons visited the Rocky Mountain National Park in the fiscal year 1945-6, according to the director of the National Park Service.

Right-of-way had been secured through the farms of the Penn Valley area, nearly every land owner having contributed free or at a nominal price.

Louie, the Chinese vegetable peddler of Grass Valley and Nevada City, was held up by two masked bandits on the Rough and Ready road while driving in his two horse team to his home in Smartsville.
